

Jerry A. Linzy

Jerry Linzy is Executive Partner Emeritus of Jerold Panas, Linzy & Partners— a major force in the field of Financial Resource Development.

Mr. Linzy brings to his position remarkable experience. He has fifty-two years (more than thirty with the firm), experience as a senior development officer in healthcare, higher education, and multiple community nonprofits. He continues to work with clients of the firm. As he says: “I didn’t retire. I refocused!”

While working with institutions throughout the United States, Canada, and Australia, Mr. Linzy remained an active volunteer in his community. He served as a member of the Board of Trustees of the University of Evansville and President of the University’s Alumni Association. He also served two terms on the Evansville City Council.

Jerry Linzy served as past International Chair of the Association for Healthcare Philanthropy. Today, he is partner and President of Marquis Property, a holding company. In addition, he operates Courtesy Coffee Counsel providing pro bono counseling for young development officers and new board members.

Mr. Linzy is a contributing author of the Nonprofit Handbook and the Institute for Charitable Giving’s newsletter. For twenty-two years, he taught six tracks at the AHP Institute at the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

He serves on the Advisory Board for the Institute for Charitable Giving.
